Syllabus Texts

'Civil Procedure' (the White Book) 2025
The Jackson ADR Handbook (Fourth Edition, 2025)

Introduction

The syllabus for the centrally set assessments in Civil Litigation is based on the principle that the Civil Litigation course should prepare students for pupillage and the early years of practice at the Civil Bar, and that the syllabus should focus upon the fundamental principles, key rules and core elements of civil litigation and civil dispute resolution.

The Civil Litigation syllabus is assessed in two papers. Paper 1 is a closed book assessment, covering all topic areas of the extended syllabus. Paper 2 is an open book assessment, again covering all topic areas of the extended syllabus, into which candidates are able to take Volumes 1 and 2 of 'Civil Procedure' (the White Book).

The syllabus makes clear what material may be examinable in both Papers 1 and 2 and is derived from Volumes 1 and 2 of 'Civil Procedure' (the White Book) 2025, and (for Paper 1 only) The Jackson ADR Handbook (Fourth Edition, 2025) Oxford University Press.

The following general principles should be noted when reading the syllabus:

- Where a Civil Procedure Rule, Practice Direction or paragraph in the editorial introduction and/or commentary in the White Book refers to another source, that other source is not on the syllabus unless indicated to the contrary elsewhere in the syllabus.
- If a rule 'A' or 'B' etc of the Civil Procedure Rules and/or a paragraph 'A' or 'B' etc of a Practice Direction is not expressly indicated as being on the syllabus (as is the case with CPR 3.1A at SA 13) it does not form part of the syllabus.

It should also be noted that the cut-off date for syllabus content is 6 April 2025, the date to which the material in the White Book 2025 is up to date. Students assessed on the current syllabus will not be tested upon material appearing in the White Book 2025 Supplements.

Required Content for the Centrally Set Assessments in Civil Litigation 2025-2026

1 General Matters

1. the overriding objective
2. the duty of the court to manage cases
3. general principles of Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR)
4. timing the use of ADR

Examinable Material

1. Examinable material on the overriding objective will consist of the overriding objective; application by the court of the overriding objective; and the duty of the parties to help the court to further the overriding objective. The relevant material is addressed in CPR 1.1-1.3.
2. Examinable material on the duty of the court to manage cases will consist of the duty of the court to manage cases; encouraging co-operation between parties; helping parties to settle; and encouraging the use of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) procedure. The relevant material is addressed in CPR 1.4; and the commentary on the overriding objective at paragraphs 1.4.4, 1.4.9 and 1.4.11 of Volume 1 of 'Civil Procedure' (the White Book) 2025.
3. Examinable material on general principles of Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) will consist of general principles of ADR; motivations for the use of ADR; criteria for the selection of an ADR option; when ADR may not be appropriate; roles and responsibilities of lawyers and parties in ADR; duties under the Civil Procedure Rules; the role of a lawyer in advising on ADR; authority to settle; the approach of the courts to ADR; judicial encouragement of ADR; case management powers and ADR; directions questionnaires and ADR; granting stays for ADR; sanctions for refusing to engage in ADR processes; unreasonable refusal to consider ADR; other factors considered by the court; silence in the face of an invitation to use ADR; practical steps which should be taken by a party to avoid sanctions; and the power of the court to order ADR. The relevant material is addressed in paragraphs; 2.30-2.61; 4.02-4.03, 4.07-4.08; 9.05, 9.21, 9.23-9.26; and 11.07-11.23, 11.60-11.62, and 11.64-11.65 of The Jackson ADR Handbook (Fourth Edition, 2025) and in the commentary at paragraphs 14-1 (first sub-paragraph ending "... on the power articulated by the Court of Appeal.") and 14-6 of Volume 2 of 'Civil Procedure' (the White Book) 2025. Students should also be able to refer to the following specific leading case authorities by name: Halsey and Churchill.
4. Examinable material on timing the use of ADR will consist of timing the use of ADR in relation to the progress of a case; procedural factors relevant to timing; the use of ADR at an interim stage; and practical factors relevant to timing. The relevant material is addressed in paragraphs 3.04-3.11, 3.14-3.16, and 3.24-3.34 of The Jackson ADR Handbook (Fourth Edition, 2025).

Explanatory material which will NOT be assessed

To complement understanding of the examinable material set out above, students may find it helpful to be familiar with paragraphs 1.01-1.10; 2.02-2.24; 2.27; and 11.01-11.03 of The Jackson ADR Handbook (Fourth Edition, 2025).

2 Limitation

1. accrual of causes of action
2. limitation periods in cases of tort, latent damage, personal injury, fatal accident, contract, and contribution claims

Examinable Material

1. Examinable material on accrual of causes of action will include the date from which limitation is calculated; and the date when an action is 'brought'. The relevant material is addressed in the commentary at paragraphs 8-3.1 and 8-3.2 of Volume 2 of 'Civil Procedure' (the White Book) 2025.
2. Examinable material on limitation periods in cases of tort, latent damage, personal injury, fatal accident, contract, and contribution claims will consist of the time limit for actions founded on tort; the time limit for actions founded on simple contract; the special time limit for claiming contribution; the special time limit for actions in respect of personal injuries; the special time limit for actions under Fatal Accidents legislation; the definition of date of knowledge for actions in respect of personal injuries and actions under Fatal Accidents legislation; the special time limit for negligence actions where facts relevant to the cause of action are not known at the date of accrual; knowledge of the claimant in negligence actions; the overriding time limit for negligence actions not involving personal injuries; the time limit for actions to enforce judgments; extension of limitation period in case of disability; postponement of limitation period in case of fraud, concealment or mistake; and discretionary exclusion of time limit for actions in respect of personal injuries or death. The relevant material is addressed in the Limitation Act 1980 sections 2, 5, 10, 11, 12, 14, 14A, 14B, 24, 28, 32, 33(1), 33(2), 33(3), 33(4), 33(5), 33(6), 33(7) and 38(2), which are to be found between paragraphs 8-4 and 8-119 of Volume 2 of 'Civil Procedure' (the White Book) 2025; and in the commentary at 8-38 and the first two sub-paragraphs at 8-43 (ending "... the claimant was unaware of any valid basis for the claim.") of Volume 2 of 'Civil Procedure' (the White Book) 2025.
